Storyboard Title: The Upstander by Emma

Frame 1:

Description: A new girl is coming to school on her first day. She is about to walk into the classroom. Will she make any friends?

Frame 2:

Description: She notices that she is wearing a tie and no one else is. The whole class becomes dead silent as she walks in. Is this good or bad?

Frame 3:

Description: All of a sudden, a gang of students start to show disrespect towards the new girl in many different ways. What will she do?

Frame 4:

Description: An aboriginal girl walks into the classroom and becomes an upstander for the new girl. She talks to the other children about respect and the other children start to walk away

Frame 5:

Description: The new girl thanks the upstander, while she is helping to make the new girl feel more comfortable in the new school environment. They understand each other's perspective better and they become friends.

Frame 6:

Description: All of the students that were disrespectful towards the new girl come up to her and truthfully apologise. The new girl reminds them that it is very important to show respect to everyone!
